Exhibition Proposal 2019-2020

Since 1977, SPARC has hosted exhibitions that inspire social change and amplify the voices of marginalized communities. SPARC aims to present socially relevant and politically conscious art, whether visual or performing, especially for underserved audiences. SPARC accepts proposals for gallery shows that fit with our mission to speak to the most pressing social, political, and environmental issues of our times. Artists, curators, collectives, students, and community organizers are all welcomed to submit proposals.

In 2020, SPARC gallery programming will focus on art created by refugee artists or artists responding to issues of asylum, displacement, and migration in relation to the many reasons that individuals or communities may seek refuge. To learn more, visit <http://sparcinla.org/durongallery/>.

If your proposal is advanced to the next stage in our selection process, you will be required to submit a gallery layout and installation plan. Please note that the gallery runs on donations and we encourage all applicants to consider how they may contribute to funding an exhibition (i.e. fundraising, grants).

We review proposals quarterly. If your proposal is advanced to the next stage of selection, you will be contacted directly. Due to the volume of proposals we cannot respond to each proposal.

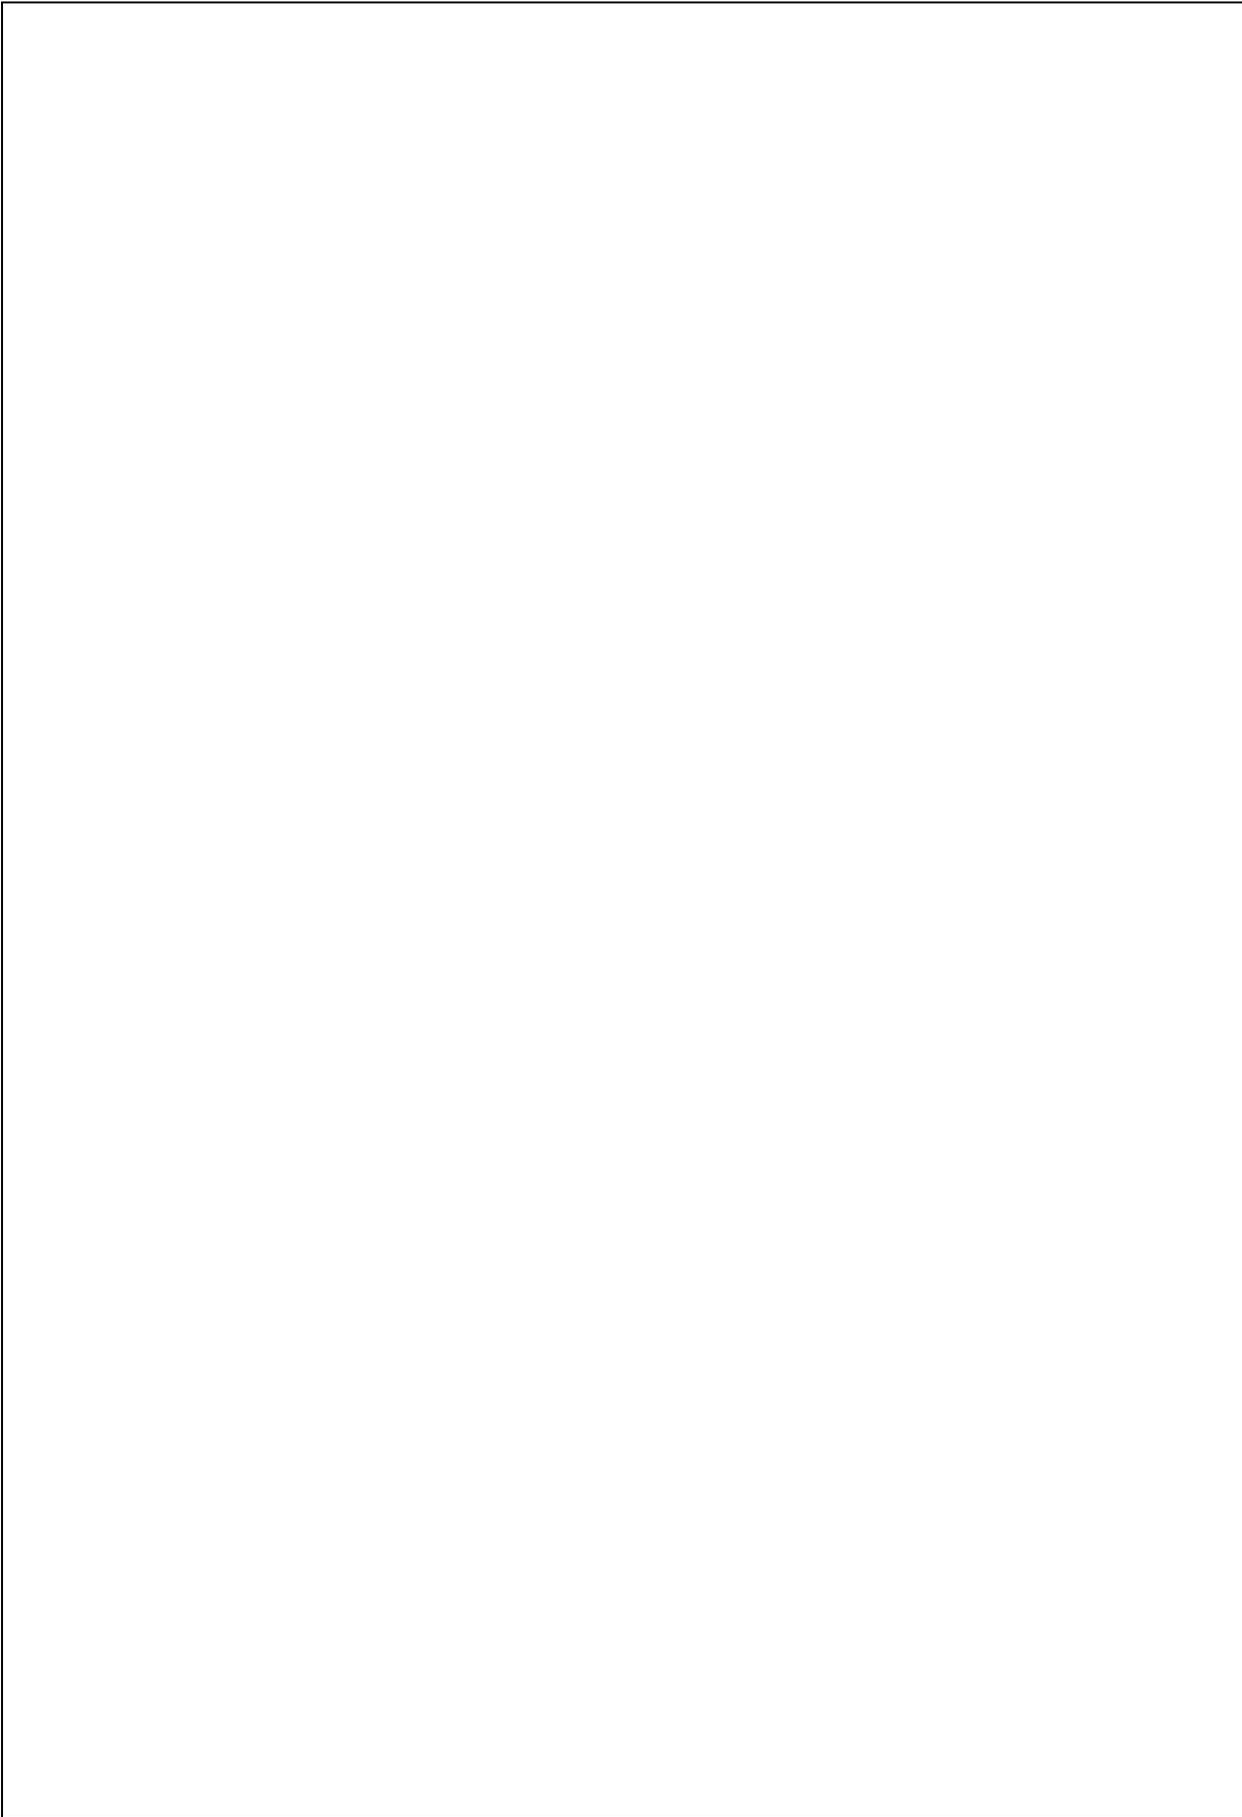

Exhibition Description

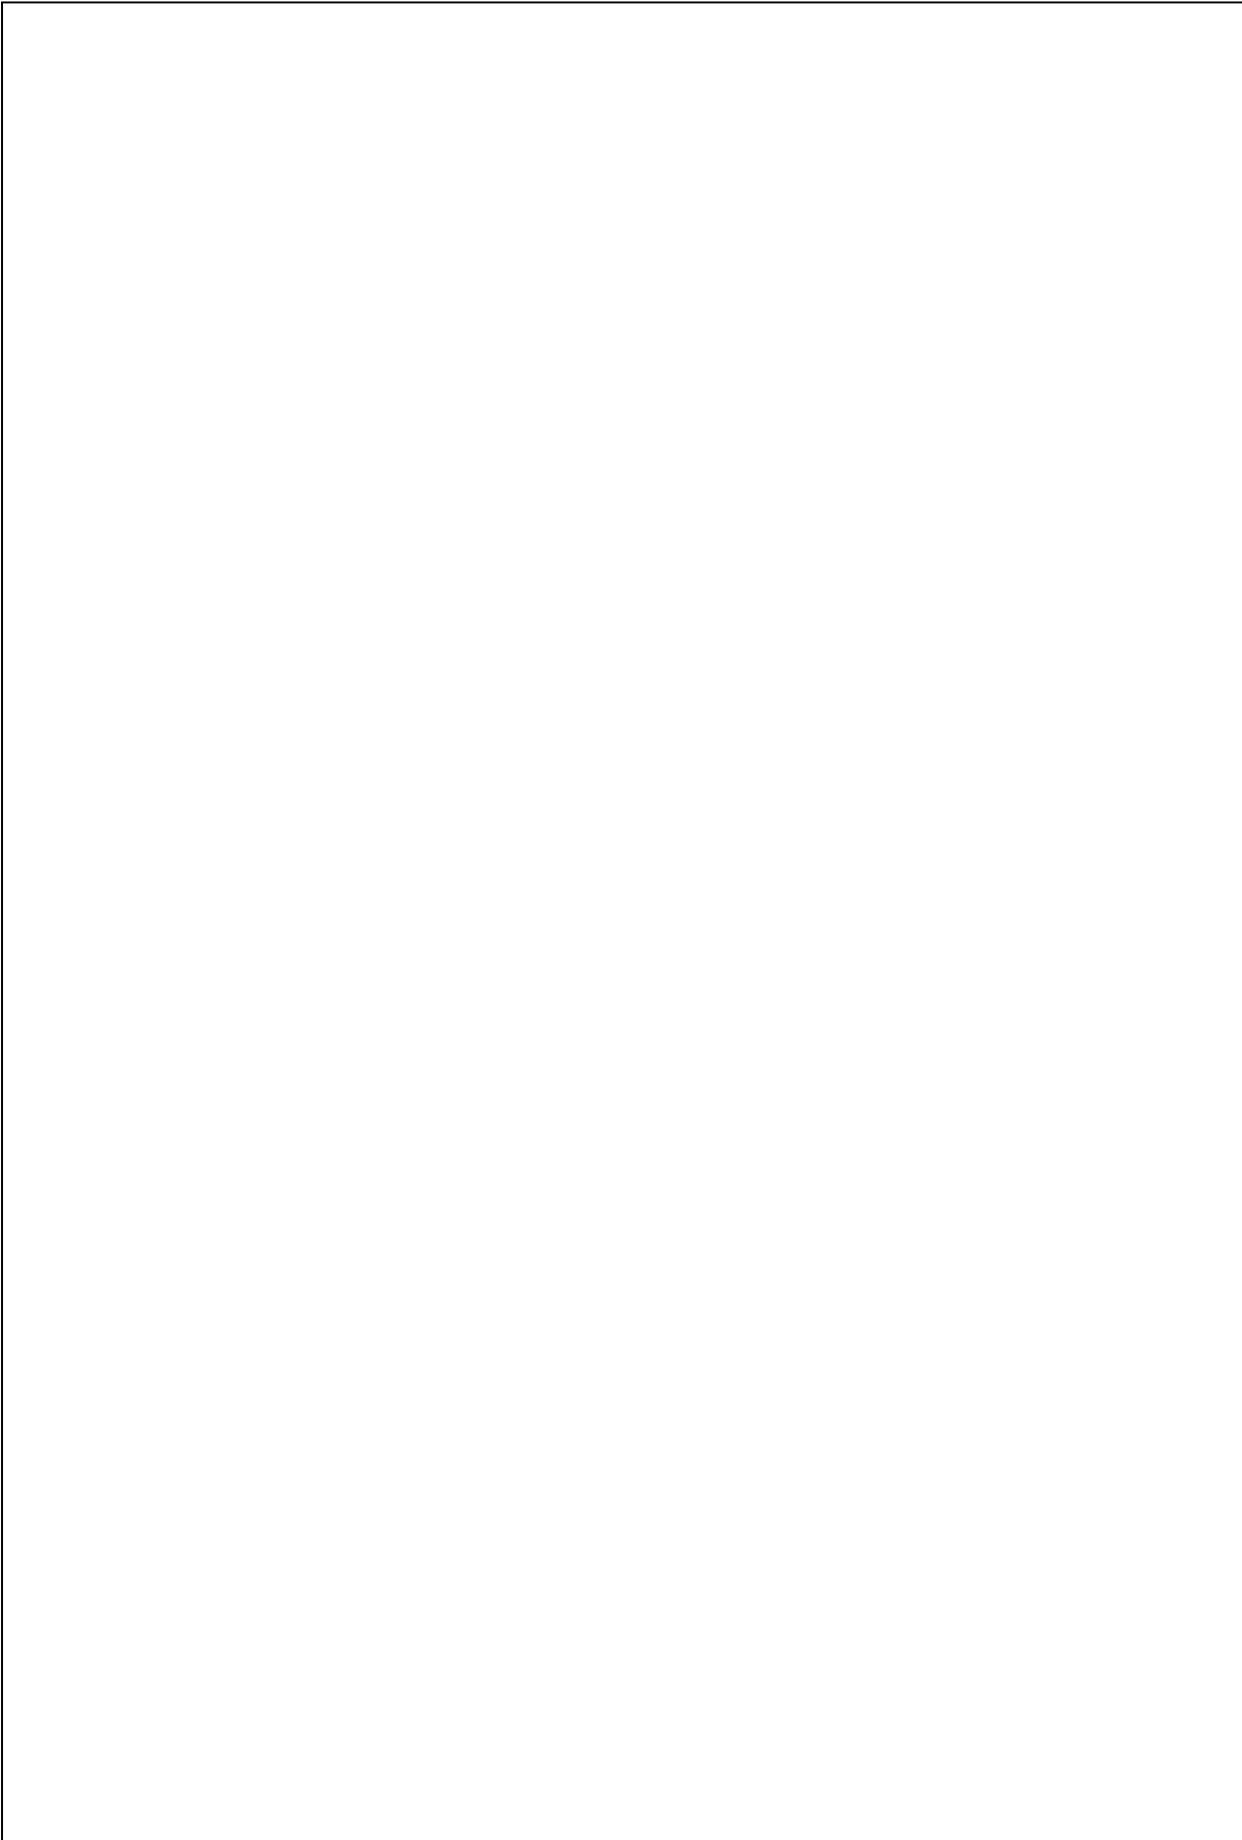

Please describe how your exhibition proposal aligns with SPARC's mission and, if applicable, our 2020 gallery focus?

Please list the names of all participating artists.

Has this exhibition been shown in Los Angeles and/or the United States? Please provide a brief list of places where this exhibition has been shown or state that this will be its first showing if applicable.

Please provide a detailed description and scope of work for the proposed exhibition, including names of artists, media, target audience(s), ancillary gallery programs (related events, workshops, etc, if applicable), and requested opening and closing dates.

SPARC is a non-profit organization and we encourage artists, curators, and proposal leads to consider how they may fundraise for the exhibition. If applicable, please provide a brief summary of grants and/or donations that you have secured or will work to secure for this exhibition.
